Collaborating for Resilience in Healthcare

Health-ISAC Monthly Newsletter - TLP White

March 2024

A Community for Immediate Response

Hours after the Change Healthcare incident was announced on February 21, Health-ISAC created a dedicated channel on Secure Chat to bring Members together to share desperately needed advice as organizations clamored for information needed to frame up their own response strategies. Just a few days later, over 600 people had joined the channel and more than 1,000 messages had been posted.

Members shared defensive strategies, threat intelligence, countermeasures, controls, and concerns. Operational impacts, workarounds, and threat-hunting tips were also big topics.

There was even a little fun in the dedicated chat as participants blew off some steam occasionally, especially to complain about not-so-useful information coming from a variety of sources.

This experience just reiterates the value a strong information-sharing community can deliver when an incident happens. Members worked together as a sector to identify gaps, impacts and actions needed to stay resilient and ultimately deliver patient care.
